David and Michele:

Do you think it would be appropriate to get an in person meeting or at least a conference call soon to discuss?

FYI. I will wait till i hear from you about responding. Whatever they gave the state is 1) not going to apply for their Class I injection and 2) we have not received a formal submittal of anything from the State. I surmise they are the owners of the San Joaquin Energy "example" AE package but I don't know that for sure. This is a departure from the most recent e-mail I received from Sonnie saying that they are working on an AE package for submittal and my intent was to capture these additional technical comments and have them turn in a revised application with an AE request package as one deliverable. If they believe what they are saying here, then we are much farther apart than we were a few weeks ago when Sonnie told me they were working on a package.
